Les Tres Riches Heures Du Duc De Berry

An illuminated manuscript of the International Gothic style, Les Tres Riches Heures Du Duc De Berry is a book of hours that was created for Jean, Duc de Berry, in the 15th century. It is considered one of the most important manuscripts of the Renaissance and is now housed in the Bibliothèque Nationale de France. The manuscript contains more than 200 paintings and is a masterpiece of the International Gothic style.

The Limbourg brothers created the manuscript, which was finished in 1416. It is a book of hours, containing prayers to be said at the canonical hours of the Christian day. The manuscript is divided into five books, each containing different prayers and illustrations.

The manuscript is particularly known for its illustrations, which depict scenes from the life of Christ, scenes from the lives of the saints, and images of the seasons of the year. The illustrations are highly detailed and are considered to be among the finest examples of book illumination from the 15th century.

Les Tres Riches Heures Du Duc De Berry is a masterpiece of the International Gothic style and is considered one of the most important illuminated manuscripts of the Renaissance. It is a book of hours designed to be used by the Duc de Berry and is now housed in the Bibliothèque Nationale de France.

Les Tres Riches Heures Du Duc De Berry

The manuscript was commissioned by Jean, Duc de Berry, in 1412. It is considered one of the most important illuminated manuscripts of the Renaissance and is now housed in the Bibliothèque Nationale de France. The manuscript contains more than 200 paintings and is a masterpiece of the International Gothic style.

The manuscript is particularly known for its illustrations, which depict scenes from the life of Christ, scenes from the lives of the saints, and images of the seasons of the year. The illustrations are highly detailed and are considered to be among the finest examples of book illumination from the 15th century.

Les Tres Riches Heures Du Duc De Berry is a masterpiece of the International Gothic style and is considered one of the most important illuminated manuscripts of the Renaissance. It is a book of hours designed to be used by the Duc de Berry and is now housed in the Bibliothèque Nationale de France.